AXMINSTER's biggest employer has confirmed that it is part of a locally-funded bid trying to take over Axminster Carpets, which is in administration.

Axminster Tool Centre's managing director, Ian Styles, has already indicated that he is keen to see the company saved - and has now announced that his company is actively trying to do so.

In a statement issued to Pulman's View, Mr Styles confirmed his involvement by saying: "We currently have an offer in place on the Carpets site to work in conjunction with a locally funded offer for the business."

"It is intended to preserve the manufacture of carpet in the town and secure the site for redevelopment to the benefit of the town and surrounding area creating real jobs and opportunities for new companies to join in using the quality name of Axminster in their trading style."

Quotes of the week...

“ IT IS intended to preserve the manufacture of carpet in the town and secure the site for redevelopment to the benefit of the town and surrounding area creating real jobs and opportunities for new companies to join in using the quality name of Axminster in their trading style'

Ian Styles, managing director of the Axminster Tool Centre, after announcing that his company had made an offer, in conjunction with other local firms, to buy Axminster Carpets.

“ THIS will give the people of East Devon and our visitors a fantastic spectacle to enjoy as world-class riders bring the colour and the excitement of international cycling to one of our coastal resorts and also to one of our market towns'

Councillor Ian Chubb, Environment Cabinet member for East Devon District Council, commenting on news that the sixth stage of the forthcoming Tour of Britain cycle race was to pass through East Devon again.

“ THE meeting with EDDC representatives was very positive and they have now gone away to review figures and come up with an idea for Seaton, which is most likely to focus on cheaper parking for the afternoons and better signage. We are pleased that by uniting as a town on a common cause, we have achieved a lot in a very short space of time, and if all goes to plan, Seaton will be included in the six month trial run, which begins this Friday. It has been great for traders to unite, regardless of whether they are members of the chamber of commerce or not, as better representation for our town is needed in order for our local businesses to survive.'

Seaton trader Tony Woodman commenting on the outcome of negotiations with East Devon District Council over parking concessions for Seaton.

“ IF YOU don't start protecting the countryside again, you can expect the biggest battle of your career. And make no mistake, we will win. We will never allow you and your fellow philistine ministers to desecrate our beautiful East Devon.'

Independent Ottery district councillor Claire Wright sending a message to Planning Minister Nick Boles at the Feniton protest march.

SPORT

Weather plans havoc with sport again

ONCE again the weekend's fixtures were disrupted by the weather.

Just four games survived in the entire Devon & Exeter League, eight in the Perry Street League and two in the South West-Peninsula League division one (East).

The only one of the region's teams to take to the field were Beer Albion Reserves who beat Awliscombe United 2-1 at Furzebrake. The win sees the Fishermen move up a place to eighth in division five.

The following day Seaton Town beat Axminster Town 3-2 at Colyford Road to book a place in the Axminster Hospital Cup Final. Goals from Josh French, Sam Jones and James Hill gave the Seasiders a 3-0 half-time lead but they had to withstand a late Tigers' fightback.

Axminster have a busy week ahead with a local derby against winless Sidmouth Town on Friday (11am kick-off) followed by a trip to Galmpton on Monday (3pm).

Back in the Devon & Exeter League there's no doubt about the pick of the games on Saturday with Beer Albion taking on Seaton Town in a local derby at Furzebrake.

The Fishermen will be keen to exact some revenge for a 3-1 defeat in the reverse fixture at Colyford Road back in November.

This game is followed by a Bank Holiday Monday run-out for the pair; Seaton head off to Mordach Bishop while Beer visit Topsham.

Appeal for players

HONITON Tennis Club (Adult Section) are looking for new members.

The club play on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7pm to 9pm throughout the summer, commencing on Tuesday, April 2nd. There is an open night on Tuesday, April 16th at Honiton Sports Centre.

The club does not play in any leagues but men and women enjoy friendly social tennis, with occasional matches against other local clubs.

AXMINSTER

Tool centre bid for Carpets

AXMINSTER'S biggest employer has confirmed that it is part of a locally-funded bid trying to take over Axminster Carpets, which is in administration.

Axminster Tool Centre's managing director, Ian Styles, has already indicated that he is keen to see the company saved – and has now announced that his company is actively trying to do so.

In a statement issued to Pulman's View, Mr Styles confirmed his involvement by saying: "We currently have an offer in place on the Carpets site to work in conjunction with a locally funded offer for the business."

"It is intended to preserve the manufacture of carpet in the town and secure the site for redevelopment to the benefit of the town and surrounding area creating real jobs and opportunities for new companies to join in using the quality name of Axminster in their trading style."

Axminster Tool Centre employs almost 200 people in Axminster and became the town's biggest employer when Axminster Carpets was hit by mass-redundancies.

Axminster Tool Centre currently manages £10,000,000 worth of commercial property in the town and has £3.5 million worth of new projects currently in hand which, if successful, will bring its investment solely in the town to £13.5 million.

The administrators of Axminster Carpets have not issued any statement about the current state of negotiations, nor have they announced how many bids are involved.

Community spirit

COMMUNITY organisations have agreed on a joint way forward to help those affected by mass-redundancies at Axminster Carpets.

Axminster Town Council invited more than 10 organisations to the Guildhall on Friday to form a joint strategy to avoid duplication and make the process as smooth as possible.

Some of the help is available to anyone in hardship whilst other help is specific to those affected by the situation at Axminster Carpets.

Axminster Mayor Andrew Moulding described the meeting as "useful and productive", adding: "It was a good example of the community spirit we have in Axminster."

Axminster Co-op (West Street) Tesco and No HALFF Measures have agreed to act as collection points (such items do not have to be bought in either of these stores – an unwanted tin of sardines from Fortnum and Mason, for example, would be perfectly acceptable provided it was in-date).

From the editor's chair Not a good look for me!

UNTIL the London Olympics, I never really got bi cycle racing. I could never understand why the French got so excited about their road races, but like millions of others that all changed with the brilliant success of Bradley Wiggins and the British cycling team last summer.

I suddenly realised how tactical and exciting competitive cycle race could be and now I'm a real fan. So it was good news to learn this week that one of the stages in this year's Tour of Britain road race will be starting in Sidmouth and visiting Honiton, giving us all the chance to see world-class riders in action.

Stage six of this important sporting event with start in Sidmouth and finish in Haytor on Dartmoor on Friday, September 20th.

It will be the seventh consecutive year that the tour has visited Devon, boosting the local economy by many millions of pounds, an added bonus to the sporting spectacle.

For years the Axe Valley Peddlars have been extolling the virtues of bicycling around our country lanes and whilst I am unlikely to rush out and buy luminous lycia (not a good look for me!) I am seriously thinking about getting my rusty old bike out of the shed and joining in what is definitely a cult sport these days.

◆ THANK you to all those of you who emailed and telephoned us to say well known on launching the Axminster Fights Back campaign in last week's issue, highlighting all the positives of living and working in Axminster.

On one of the ten-page supplement we listed 15 good things about why the people of Axminster should be proud of their town.

It's always dangerous making such lists for fear out a obvious exclusion. And that's exactly what we did by failing to mention the hugely successful Axe Vale Festival which has done so much good in the Axe Valley over the years.

The campaign received wonderful support from the trading community of Axminster; we even had complaints from a few businesses that slipped the net because they were not asked to advertise.

And before you ask, yes we will be making a donation to Axminster Care Service in support of all the effort that it going into helping those who have lost their jobs.

Still no official definite news on the future of the carpet factory but it is good news that Axminster Tool Centre, in conjunction with other local firms, are bidding to ensure that Axminsters are continued to be manufactured in Axminster.

Don't forget that we want to hear from you on why you love living in Axminster and keep your eyes peeled for more information about our essay competition and the Pride In Axminster awards later in the year.

FENITON

Countryside 'rape' protest march

FENITON was the chosen location when 200 or so campaigners marched against "the desecration" of East Devon's countryside.

Called by newly-formed East Devon Alliance, the protest march attracted people from all over East Devon on Saturday.

The main target of the march was the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) 2012, which campaigners claim is a developers' charter.

Some placard holders went as far as accusing selected government ministers of "rape of the countryside".

Feniton was a logical location for the protest because of the amount of proposed developments there, and the recent controversy surrounding the village's former district councillor, Graham Brown.

Campaigners assembled in Louvigny Close before marching towards the village centre, crossing the railway line and holding a rally in a field up the road.

Resident Susie Bond confirmed her candidacy as an independent for the vacant district council seat and said: "We are not NIMBYs. Although that is a convenient piece of abuse to throw at people."

"The village of Feniton is facing three housing developments which, if implemented in full, would increase the size of the village by 40 per cent."

Independent district councillor for Ottery rural, Claire Wright, had already fired up the masses by reading out a message to planning minister Nick Boles, saying: "Mr Boles, countryside campaigners have got a message for you – we're fighting back."

"If you don't start protecting the countryside again, you can expect the biggest battle of your career."

"And make no mistake, we will win."

"We will never allow you and your fellow philistine ministers to desecrate our beautiful East Devon."

The by-election for EDDC's vacant Feniton and Buckerell seat will, if required, be held on Thursday May 2nd.

An EDDC spokesperson said: "The only reason for an election not being held at Feniton would be if there was only one person nominated, in which case that person would be co-opted to the seat."

"The potential by-election follows the recent resignation of Graham Brown, and holding it at the same time as the county elections would mean taxpayers won't bear the cost of a separate poll."

Mr Brown resigned after being filmed by a national newspaper, apparently suggesting he could influence the planning process.

SEATON

Traders press for fair deal parking

SEATON businesses and organisations have clubbed together to fight for a fair deal for Seaton, after they were left out of a new EDDC trial to provide cut-price parking for East Devon's towns.

After hearing that Axminster, Honiton, Sidmouth and Exmouth were set to benefit from the trial, which aims to provide cut-price parking in a bid to boost local trade and footfall, Seaton residents were angry that they had been ignored.

Following the start of a petition distributed by local traders, members of Seaton Town Council and county councillor, Jim Knight, arranged a meeting with EDDC representatives at the town hall yesterday (Monday) where plans for discounted parking were discussed.

As the Pulman's View From Seaton and Beer went to print, it was confirmed that representatives of EDDC including portfolio holder Iain Chubb, deputy portfolio holder Phil Twiss and Andrew Ennis, Environmental Health & Parking Services Manager, attended the meeting and agreed to consider the trial run for Seaton.

EAST DEVON

Tour of Britain stage starts in Sidmouth

AN EAST Devon councillor has welcomed news that one of the stages in this year's Tour of Britain cycle race is to start in the district.

Councillor Iain Chubb, EDDC's Cabinet Member for Environment, said: "It's fantastic news that Stage Six of September's race will be starting in Sidmouth on the Jurassic coastline and passing through Honiton on its way to a finish on Dartmoor."

"This will give the people of East Devon and our visitors a fantastic spectacle to enjoy as world-class riders bring the colour and the excitement of international cycling to one of our coastal resorts and also to one of our market towns".

The organisers of the tour and Devon County Council announced that Devon will host Stage Six from Sidmouth to Haytor in Dartmoor National Park on Friday, September 20th.

Devon will be making history as the first stage of The Tour of Britain to host a summit finish when the nation's premier cycle race returns to the county to celebrate its 10th anniversary.

The tour last raced through Sidmouth in 2010 and Haytor featured as a Skoda King of the Mountains climb in 2011, when Jonathan Tiernan Locke dominated the climbs and went on to win the Skoda King of the Mountains jersey.

It will be the seventh consecutive year that the tour will have visited Devon. In that time it has brought in more than £21 million to the local economy and showcased the county to a worldwide audience. Last year alone generated more than £7.3 million in Devon in a record breaking year.

This year's Devon stage will start on the Jurassic Coast UNESCO World Heritage Site in Sidmouth and will cover around 85 miles (137 km) of the county before finishing with a testing climb at Haytor in Dartmoor National Park.

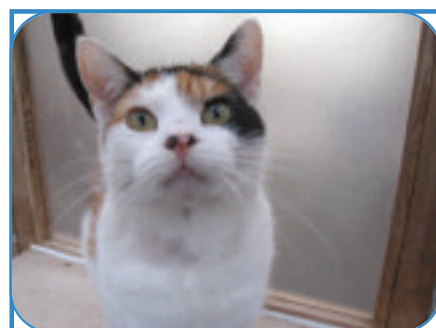

The route will also see 96 of the world's top cyclists race through Honiton, Cullompton, Tiverton, Exeter, Moretonhampstead, and Bovey Tracey before the challenging climax in Dartmoor National Park.

Pupils raise £750 for Comic Relief

RED Nose activities at Axminster Primary School raised more than £750 for Comic Relief, with more to come.

Year 6 pupils and their parents baked cakes all week to sell to the rest of the school, which included a splendid 'dynamite red nose cake' baked by a parent.

Non-uniform day brought forth the usual great array of dyed hair for which participants were all 'fined' and, finally, the sale of red noses totalled nearly £240 alone. In a special assembly, the staff sponsored headteacher Tony Harvell to undergo a makeover, complete with splendid red wig and red feather boa.

School administrator Kay Pike said: "We cannot possibly share the outcome with you.

"We thank all the children and parents for their support with such a worthy cause."

Emergency responders may go single handed

By Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

PROPOSED changes to co-responder arrangements have been met with scepticism in Axminster.

Devon & Somerset Fire & Rescue Service area commander (Central Command) Steve Widnell was one of the guest speakers during Axminster Annual Parish Meeting on March 18th.

The service needs to make changes for financial reasons and one proposal is to reduce co-responder units from two persons to one.

In short, a co-responder is a firefighter (often retained) trained to attend medical emergencies/accidents and provide a certain level of care until paramedics arrive.

The concept is widespread in rural areas that ambulances may need more time to reach.

Devon & Somerset Fire & Rescue Service has 19 retained co-responder stations, including Axminster and Seaton.

At present, a co-responder team of two is mobilised to emergencies. They get the call, get to the station, collect the vehicle and go to the incident. The proposal on the table, though, is to change the concept manpower and process-wise.

A report said: "It is proposed to introduce a response of a single co-responder direct from their home address or place of work.

"The response vehicle would be located with the co-responder at their home or place of work. The co-responder would be mobilised directly by South Western Ambulance Service NHS Foundation Trust.

"This is the arrangement that is in place in some other services and improves the chances of a heart attack victim surviving."

The report also pointed out that Devon and Somerset Fire and Rescue Service is only paid for call outs that meet the eight-minute response time target set by South Western Ambulance Service NHS Foundation Trust.

But the new proposal carries practical problems, one being taking the response vehicle to work.

Town councillor John Jeffery pointed out that many co-responders are self-employed and go from one place to another in their own vans carrying their own equipment.

Town councillor Sue Spiller also pointed this out and pressed area commander Widnell for answers.

He said talks were ongoing and added: "We are looking at overcoming the issues, we don't have all the answers yet."

College 'heroine' Megan's £500 for leukaemia fund

AN Axminster Community College student started a fundraising campaign for Exeter Leukaemia Fund (ELF) after being diagnosed with the illness last summer.

The efforts of Year 11 student Megan Bilton, who lives in Seaton, came to more than £500.

Megan was diagnosed during the early part of the summer term last year and attends lessons when well enough.

To help her studies, she has a home tutor through CLIC Sargent and Devon Personalised Learning Service and she is beating the illness.

Head of Year 11 Jo Osborne said: "She is an inspiration to us all and is a personal heroine of mine as she has coped so well with everything that has been thrown at her over the past year."

Funds were raised through the sale of ELF badges with Megan's name on and fellow students took part in various fundraisers.

The total came to £510.60, and a cheque was presented to ELF fundraising manager Bridget Hill on Wednesday, March 20th.

Anyone wishing to buy a badge or make a donation can do so by contacting the college.

Investing in Axminster

Axminster Tool Centre employs almost 200 people in Axminster and became the town's biggest employer when Axminster Carpets was hit by mass-redundancies.

Axminster Tool Centre currently manages £10 million worth of commercial property in the town and has £3.5 million worth of new projects currently in hand which, if successful, will bring its investment solely in the town to £13.5 million.

The administrators of Axminster Carpets have not issued any statement about the current state of negotiations, nor have they announced how many bids are involved.

Operation Shogun: keeping Devon safe

OPERATION Shogun saw police flood the Devon, Somerset and Dorset border areas with cars, officers and dogs for three nights.

A force helicopter was also put to good use and tracked suspects being pursued by officers on the ground.

The biggest catch was three people being arrested on suspicion of stealing 1,000 litres of diesel.

Police launched a two-hour manhunt involving a helicopter, a dog unit and regular officers near Ilton when the suspects fled the scene.

The three-night operation was part of an ongoing and wider project known as Operation Newmarket, set up to combat certain types of crime in rural areas of East and Mid Devon.

Based at Honiton CID, PC Simon Aldred of Devon and Cornwall Police is the Operation Newmarket co-ordinator.

He said: "A lot of rural crime is very difficult to deal with through normal police procedure. A lot of people in the countryside were not impressed with the police service and farmers felt police was not interested.

"We realised we were missing a trick, so Operation Newmarket was born with the aims of getting people locked up and have an impact on crime figures."

The initiative has enjoyed some success. When it comes to quad bikes, for example, 40 were stolen during 2011 - but the figure was halved in 2012.

One recipe for the success involves improved communication and co-operation with neighbouring Avon and Somerset Police and Dorset Police.

Police intelligence show that a high proportion of rural crime (like theft and burglary) in East and Mid Devon is perpetrated by criminals coming in from Somerset or Dorset.

by Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

For example, four vehicles stolen in in Mid or East Devon have been found and recovered in Somerset since December.

PC Aldred and Axminster-based PC Kevin Bennett both described Devon as "the larder door" and said: "People open it and help themselves."

Operation Shogun is led by PC Bennett and concentrates on the three-counties border areas. PC Aldred said: "It is fair to say that many people who are victims of crime in the countryside have had a visit by an uninvited visitor."

PC Bennett added: "These individuals have recced the premises."

This could, for example, have been in the shape of someone turning up claiming to look for scrap metal to buy, or offering to carry out work.

PC Aldred explained: "If you have had cold callers to your farm, be it scrap buyers or someone offering to work, we would like to know because we can then make enquiries about these people to find out what they are doing."

ON THE CASE | PC Simon Aldred and PC Kevin Bennett

The information he is looking for includes vehicle registration number, vehicle livery and a description or photo of the individual/s if circumstances allow.

He added: "Be polite, but try to get the car registration or other details. We really need people in the countryside to phone police about suspicious vehicles."

Should the worse come to worst, it would help if the victim has a serial number of the stolen item in question. This could prove an invaluable help for police when trying to match any recovered item with its rightful owner.

PC Aldred explained: "We are likely to come across stolen items and the only way to trace the owner is if the owner has taken down the serial number."

He urged people to take down the serial number at the moment of purchase straight from the item, and issued a word of warning by saying: "It (the serial number) is not on the box."

Up to 300 vehicles were stopped and checked on each of the three nights during Operation Shogun, which began on Monday, March 18th. Pulman's View accompanied PCs Aldred and Bennett on the last shift overnight from March 18th to 19th.

In total, 35 or so officers from the three forces were involved on the night, which proved to be relatively uneventful.

PC Aldred admitted that a bit of action would have made the night pass quicker, but stressed: "The ring of steel around Devon has worked."

River Cottage on the hunt for young chefs

RIVER Cottage is seeking 40 youngsters for its Young Chef Apprenticeship Scheme.

The programme is part of the recently formed Professional Cookery School, which was created to educate cooks and chefs in culinary arts, whilst focusing on the importance of sustainability, seasonality and ethical food procurement.

River Cottage will be training and certificating young people for the benefit of restaurants and hotels in the South West.

A River Cottage spokesperson said: "The aim is to find 16-19 years old aspiring chefs, and to place them in a business where they can earn and learn as well as get fully trained and qualified by the River Cottage team.

"They will train at River Cottage for 24 days of the 12-month apprenticeship and River Cottage will provide ongoing support, by visiting and assessing them in their place of work.

"These businesses will be the employers of the young chef apprentices, with the River Cottage team being responsible for their education, assessment and, finally, awarding them with their Diploma in professional cookery."

River Cottage boss Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall added: "There has been a renaissance in British restaurant cookery in recent years, not just in terms of the style of cooking and techniques now being employed, but also, more crucially in my view, in the approach of chefs to sourcing their food, embracing good provenance, and choosing their recipe.

"We aim to strike while the iron is hot, helping to bring even more change and innovation in this area."

The application deadline is at midnight on April 8th.

Additionally, all applicants have the opportunity to enter a competition, where one winner will be offered the chance to work for a year at Park Farm and become the face of the 2013/14 River Cottage Young Chefs Apprenticeship Scheme.

■ SPICK AND SPAN: The first shift of college litter pickers hard at work

Students act as Grizzly litter-pickers

STUDENTS and PTFA members from Axe Valley Community College played a low-profile but important role during the Grizzly race in Seaton.

For some time, the college's parents, teachers and friends' association has helped out on race day in exchange for a donation.

College spokesperson Wendy Cryer said: "They spent all afternoon in freezing conditions cleaning up after the runners and spectators, ensuring that road-side bins were regularly emptied and the streets were clear of litter.

"The PTFA this year decided to give the money to the cycle challenge.

"As a result, the students taking part in the cycle challenge offered to do the litterpick."

The cycle challenge's formal name is Dartmoor Classic Cyclosportive Cycle Challenge and will be held on June 23rd.

Wendy added: "This year our sponsors are Swards Coaches, Selec Systems and Cyclife Bikenutz.

"Eighteen Year 10 students and two teachers are participating in the cycle challenge this year which is the most ever and three more than last year.

"The college wants to buy another three bicycles to enable all 18 to take part.

"As soon as the money comes through from the Grizzly litterpick, which is usually quite quick, we expect to have enough to buy the three extra bikes."

Revellers who urinated in the street not local

By Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

AXMINSTER Mayor Andrew Moulding has stressed that a pub in the town was not to blame when some customers allegedly urinated in various places nearby.

The matter was raised during an item named Police Report during Axminster Town Council's meeting on Monday, March 11th.

Councillor Moulding said he had observed a group of unruly people in the middle of a town centre street when driving through.

When he got home, he received a phone call from a South Street resident who complained that people were urinating in his garden and also in the launderette.

The incidents took place in the early hours of Saturday, March 2nd, and police were called.

PCSO Andy Trott was one of the responding officers, and he told councillors that a coach-load of rugby people from outside the area had stopped at Red Lion.

Tanked up

The coach was on its way to leave when officers arrived, but was pulled over in Trinity Square.

Officers entered the coach and the passengers were spoken to and "sent on their way".

Police were unable to take any other action because there was no description available of any particular offender.

PCSO Trott did not reveal the name of the rugby club involved, but hinted that the club in question has been contacted by police after the incident.

Councillor Moulding commented: "The group was tanked up when arriving. It was not the fault of the Red Lion."

■ FRY UP: Members of Axminster Young Farmers' Club served up a variety of breakfasts in the Guildhall on Sunday, March 17th. Formally known as The Big Breakfast, the five-hour event was a fundraiser for club coffers. Those visiting could choose from anything between a cereal-based breakfast to full English.

Students raise £230 for WaterAid

TWO Year 9 students from Axe Valley Community College in Axminster joined forces to raise £230 for WaterAid.

The charity provides clean water and safe sanitation in poor areas of the world.

Freya Robley and Amber Snell (pictured) organised a sponsored run on the college field on Friday, February 8th to raise money for the charity.

Headteacher Martin Smith and technology teacher Karen Fanzo were among participants and completed 10 laps each during the lunch break.

Freya and Amber inspired other students to get involved in fundraising activities by doing a presentation about their project during assembly.

Other students contributed by holding a cake sale as well as sponsored silences.

Axminster FIGHTS BACK!

PROMOTING AXMINSTER AS A VIBRANT COMMUNITY IN WHICH TO WORK AND LIVE

published in association with Axminster Care Service, Axminster Job Club and Axminster Churches Together

Good example of community spirit

COMMUNITY organisations have agreed on a joint way forward to help those affected by mass-redundancies at Axminster Carpets.

Axminster Town Council invited more than 10 organisations to the Guildhall on Friday to form a joint strategy to avoid duplication and make the process as smooth as possible.

Some of the help is available to anyone in hardship whilst other help is specific to those affected by the situation at Axminster Carpets.

Axminster Mayor Andrew Moulding described the meeting as "useful and productive", adding: "It was a good example of the community spirit we have in Axminster."

The following was agreed:

By Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

◆ That food or monetary contributions for the purchase of food should be directed to Canned Sunshine or Axminster Christian Fellowship.

Axminster Co-op (West Street) Tesco and No HALFF Measures have agreed to act as collection points (such items do not have to be bought in either of these stores – an unwanted tin of sardines from Fortnum and Mason, for example, would be perfectly acceptable provided it was in-date).

It is understood that the food collection points have different criteria, with some only taking non-perishable food.

Anyone wishing to donate food is asked to check beforehand with the collection point in question.

Pet food is also needed and welcome.

◆ That monetary contributions for other purposes should be made to Axminster Care Service's carpet workers' support fund.

This fund is in the process of being set up and applications will be considered by two former Axminster Carpets employees, the vice-chairman, treasurer and secretary of Axminster Care Service and one town councillor.

◆ That any other offers of goods in kind should be made through Axminster Care Service or Axminster Health and Wellbeing Centre or any other agency specified at a later date.

Anyone wishing to make donations or apply for help can contact the relevant organisation directly or obtain contact details from Axminster Town Council.

Last Friday's meeting was attended by ARC, Axminster Town Council, Axminster Job Club, Axe Valley Community College, Axminster Churches

Together, Lymenet, Honiton JobCentre, Axminster Medical Practice, Axminster Care Service, Axminster Carpet Workers' Support Group, HALFF, Rotary Club of Axminster, Axminster Chamber of Commerce, East Devon District Council, Axminster Senior Forum, Community Union.

Another reason to be proud of Axminster

AXE Vale Festival has a reputation as a serious fundraiser for local causes, having amassed an impressive £300,000 since 1994.

The popular two-day festival is a major event attracting about 400 exhibitors and thousands of visitors to the show-ground each summer.

Attractions are plenty and include a horticultural show, trade stands, a food hall, antiques and collectables arena events and so on.

One person who has attended every festival is Axe Vale Festival chairman Claire Morgan.

Having started as a visitor, then a stall holder before progressing to committee member and, eventually, chairman, the festival is close to her heart.

Her first year as chairman was tough test, though, the festival being cancelled for the first time.

Relentless rain forced the decision but everyone involved is determined to make up for it by putting on an even greater festival this year.

The dates for the diary are Saturday June 22nd and Sunday, June 23rd.

More festival info is available online at www.axevalefestival.org.uk

NEWS FROM SEATON LIONS

■ MEMBERS of Seaton and District Lions pledged their support to charity Libra with a presentation of £300. In the past year, the Lions have raised £1,200 for the charity, which supports around 30,000 people in the UK who are diagnosed with blood cancer every year. The latest fundraising campaign for Libra is named 'Giving 4 Growth' and the charity are currently trying to raise £100,000 to purchase new clinical trials equipment for the King's College Hospital, enabling health experts to develop life saving treatments for patients with blood cancers such as leukaemia and lymphoma. Pictured above are the members of the Lions with their next instalment to support the charity

CHILDREN from Seaton Primary School are set to enjoy a brand new reading books and materials thanks to the Seaton and District Lions.

After receiving a letter from the school asking for £600 towards the cost of purchasing new reading materials for the upper school from Head of Teaching and Learning, Kay McFarlane, the Lions group were keen to get involved.

At a special cheque presentation on Monday, representatives of the lions arrived at a special whole school assembly to explain the donation and handed over a giant cheque to Head Boy, Archie and Head girl, Bethany.

Following the presentation, the Lions were able to see at first hand how the reading materials would benefit the schoolchildren by meeting with Years Three and Four in the library with the new books.

The reading scheme, named 'Project X', was also partly funded by the Seaton Primary PTA and is a brand new incentive aiming to promote reading, particularly with young boys, with new reading materials produced by mostly male authors.

The non-fiction books have been proven to raise achievement levels significantly in reading, comprehension and writing.

Janine Barradale, who organised the project, was pleased to hand-over the cheque and see how the money would aid reading within the school.

She said: "The Seaton and District Lions are proud to support our local school and help the children with their reading and comprehension skills."

Feeling chilly at Colyton Grammar

By student reporter
Isabella Brown
edit@pemediaco.uk

YEAR 8 students at Colyton Grammar School took part in a Polar Challenge Day, organised by four real polar explorers.

Jamie Buchanan-Dunlop, who led the team, is a member of the Catlin Arctic Survey, a collaboration between scientists and explorers to undertake field research in the Arctic.

Students learnt about teamwork, communication and leadership, as areas of the school were turned into camps where students were trained to become polar guides and challenged to survive in extreme environments.

The challenge encouraged students to develop their interest in science and geography.

Geography teacher Pat Hickey commented: "The day was a great success as the students had the opportunity to take part in activities linked to their work on ocean geography, and find out about expeditions from four polar explorers."

Science Week at Colyton Primary

CHILDREN at Colyton Primary School took part in a number of special events as part of Science Week.

Events included a visit from author Peter Davids who spoke to the children about dinosaurs and fossils. Dr Tossell also visited the school to talk on the brain and other parts of the body.

Students made egg protectors on Monday and giant paper aeroplanes on Wednesday before launching them in the playground to see which flew the furthest.

Planning furore highlights the weekness in managing land use

■ THE furore surrounding relaxation of planning regulations, and the recent indiscretions of elected councillors only highlights a fundamental weakness in our arrangements for managing land use in the UK.

As long as we have a system which allows those who own land to collect all the community created value uplift, there will be intense pressure to speculate on land values; to sit on land in anticipation of rising prices; and for others to be squeezed out of the market and potentially into poverty and homelessness.

There is a way out of this dilemma which is economically viable, practical and would eliminate the scourge of speculation which continues to extend the gap between rich and poor in the UK and beyond.

It is called a stewardship fee and would be recovered from the owners of land to reflect the benefit they would otherwise accrue solely from ownership of that land.

This concept was originally conceived by Henry George who, in 1879, wrote "Progress and Poverty", which clearly set out the case for sharing amongst everyone in society, the benefits derived from having access to land. His argument rested on the belief that the rentable value of land should be shared amongst all citizens. All improvements to land, including buildings etc would be unaffected.

Here in Devon, this concept is being promoted by a newly formed group, the Henry George Society of Devon and we welcome others to help spread the ideas of Henry George which are now so topical once again - www.henrygeorgedevon.wordpress.com

Town deserves a happy future

■ THE plight of Axminster Carpets has understandably taken priority in this newspaper for the past two months.

In this period, two letters on the issue have been published. The first letter, on February 26th, from Tim Whitehead, made a very unpleasant attack on the campaign group Save Our Parklands, calling them "narrow-minded" and "disloyal" and blaming them for the demise of the carpet business, and calling for Axminster to "put pressure on these individuals".

A letter correcting Mr Whitehead's incorrect claims appeared on March 5th, and the writer must have requested their name to be withheld. Many readers will have understood this, given the nasty tone of the original letter.

The editor, wisely in my opinion, having given fair space to both letters, and with the rumours he mentioned that were circulating in the town, stated that no more letters on the topic would be published until the factory's future was known.

Furthermore, in response to a reader's criticism, the editor has said that from now on, unless very special circumstances prevail, all letters must carry the writer's name. So, when letters on the topic are again accepted, can we hope that they will be thoughtfully written, not to blame, but to encourage rational debate, not bullying people who take a different view, thus allowing a balanced image of this town and its people for those who read this newspaper.

No longer an Axminster resident, I wouldn't be eligible to submit an essay on what I love about Axminster, (though what a great project for local school pupils!). I will however always retain an interest and real affection for this special town and the wonderful countryside in which it is cradled. Fortunately I live near enough to still shop once or twice a week, and have a coffee in the arts cafe or Trinity House while there, and to occasionally return to walk by the Axe river.

I sincerely hope that the town will soon recover its positive image and confidently face the happy future it surely deserves.

Underuse of hospital down to fault in appointments system

■ WHEN my husband was going to Exeter for check-ups after plastic surgery I asked if we could be seen nearer home and we ended up having the last two appointments in Sidmouth.

When he was given an eye appointment in Exeter (after being told by the optician that he could be treated in Axminster) I rang to see whether we could arrange to go to Axminster.

This was not made easy. At first I was fobbed off and sent around different departments but I persisted and eventually got an appointment in Axminster.

Even if you live in Axminster you are not automatically sent to Axminster hospital. No wonder the service is underused as something is badly wrong with the system. My advice - ask!

Portraits in watercolour at Axminster art group

Popular Devon artist Sian Dudley gave her audience plenty to think about when she addressed the monthly meeting of the Axminster Art Society in Musbury Village Hall on Wednesday, on the topic of "Portraits in Watercolour".

Referring to simple drawings by young children of the face, she said that it was wrong to start a portrait with the assumption that you know just what a face looks like.

Rather, the artist must really get to know their subject before attempting to paint it, looking beyond the physical features and into the sitter's personality.

Sian claimed that there were no taboos as to how you prepare for painting a portrait but her preferred way was to take as many photographs of the subject as possible in order to determine the best angle, expression and lighting. Avoid full face portraits, she warned, as these are the most difficult.

Her next step is to do many sketches to ensure that she can capture the right look and that the areas of light and shade are correct.

The advice given here is to always begin a drawing of the face in the middle with the eyes, nose and mouth, and not with the outer shape of the head.

Moving on to the actual painting, Sian Dudley demonstrated how basic, and even "un-skinlike", colours could be mixed on the palette or on the paper itself to produce a wide range of convincing facial tones.

She also showed how to avoid unwanted hard edges and how to apply over-glazes where darker tones are needed.

While admitting that portraits in watercolours are difficult she rejected the myth that it has to be right first time; the watercolourist has many techniques available to work the portrait to perfection. Sian will be running a workshop on "Portraits in Watercolours", which is open to all, at All Saints Village Hall on Saturday April, 20th (01460 221060 for details).

The next meeting of the Axminster Art Society will be on Wednesday, April 17th at 2.15pm in the Musbury Village Hall when Roy Lang will give a demonstration entitled "House on a Beach - Skies, Light and Shadow in oils".

WWI and WWII veteran's son tells U3A of father's adventures

THE general meeting of Seaton U3A was held in the town hall in February, chaired by Peter Huntley in the absence of Warwick Turley.

The speaker for the afternoon was Philip Agar, a former journalist who has written a book called "Goodbye, Old Chap" about his father, who was involved in both World Wars.

Stanley Agar, born in 1899, the same year as Adolph Hitler, volunteered as an apprentice in the Merchant Navy, a little while after the war broke out.

The conditions for the young sailors were awful. Pay was £10 a year, about £200 in today's money. Food was poor and they worked 11 hours a day. Washing facilities were non-existent.

Stanley soon found himself in trouble. He was torpedoed in the North Atlantic and later his boat was in collision near Scarpa Flow. He was anxious to better himself so he went to Texas and worked hard to become a Master Mariner.

Life was much better on the American ships. Eventually he worked his way up to become the captain of a small oil tanker. All this time he was keeping a diary, documenting his experiences.

Stanley signed on for three years with tankers to the far East. On his way, he broke his journey in London where he met his future wife. Eventually, Stanley was able to save enough money to get married and to buy a four bedroom house.

The next time we hear of him, the Second World War has started and Stanley is the captain of an oil tanker travelling from Quito to Venezuela, and his vessel became the first to be attacked from the air. Later he surrendered to a large German submarine to prevent his crew being drowned. His tanker only had only two antiquated guns and six rifles.

All 32 men were taken to Bordeaux in Vichy France, where they spent four days and four nights without food or water. They were taken to a concentration camp but the Swiss Red Cross insisted that they were moved to a POW camp. Conditions were bad there - only one eighth of a loaf a day for each.

Later when Red Cross parcels came more frequently, life improved. Because of the many trades represented in the camp, the men were able to provide themselves with hobbies and they were able to bribe the guards with cigarettes to turn a blind eye to some of their activities, including shows and sports. The Germans were glad the prisoners were not planning escape. They were even allowed to watch BBC in exchange for cigarettes!

Health was poor but the Red Cross had X-ray equipment. Some men had been making their own alcohol and became badly affected. Stanley spent several years in the camp, then news started to trickle through that the Welsh Guards were on their way. Preparations were being made to transfer the Royal Navy prisoners to East Germany so they were hidden by the Merchant Navy men. Those lucky ones were at the gates to watch the Welsh Guards fight their way in.

Philip had some of his books for sale and they are available on Amazon.

The next meeting will be today (March 26th) at 2pm in the Town Hall, when David Snelling will talk about "Operation Henry".

East Devon Women's Institutes ROUND UP

ALL SAINTS & DISTRICT

The speaker at the All Saints & District WI March meeting was Julia Tremlett from the National Garden Scheme.

The beginnings of visiting gardens was started in 1859 by William Rathbone, after consultation with Florence Nightingale who said there was a great need in financing training for nurses, fundraising was begun.

Julia told members how the idea of the NGS came about. Elsie Wagg initiated the NGS and the first garden to be opened in 1927 with an entrance fee of a sixpence, was at Sandringham.

In 1980 the Queen's nursing institute became a charity and to this day many nursing and care charities receive donations, including Macmillan cancer support and Marie Curie cancer care.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, April 9th at All Saints Village Hall at 7.30pm. This will be the annual general/resolutions meeting and "A Pretty Spoon" with the competition, plus there will be a raffle.

New members and visitors always welcome.

AXMOUTH

Axmouth WI President Denise Gait welcomed members to the March meeting, where an outing to Sherborne, the spring group meeting and annual dinner at Dolphin Hotel in Beer were discussed.

Flower of the Month placings were as follows: 1st Beryl Elstan, 2nd Jackie Lewis, 3rd Sue Barnard. The competition was won by Lorraine Hipkin, followed by Jackie Lewis.

John Brasier of Newton Poppleford gave members a talk entitled "Operation Pied Piper" about the evacuation of British school children and others during World War II.

John explained how he, as a nine-year-old, was sent to Hastings before going on to Hertfordshire. Schoolchildren were evacuated from London to all over Britain and abroad, leaving London railway stations in third class carriages.

Each child had a luggage label tied to their coat with their name and the name of their school, plus a small case with a change of clothes, a bar of soap, toothbrush and toothpaste and everyone was issued with a gas mask.

Some children remained lifelong friends with the families they were evacuated to, while others found life more testing in the countryside, being used to indoor sanitation and hot and cold running water in London.

Parents were forbidden to see their children off on the train so said their goodbyes at the school gates before teachers took the children to the station.

The evacuees attended the local school and were integrated into the towns and villages.

John and his younger brother were able to earn pocket money by weeding gardens and doing a newspaper round. They attended church three times on a Sunday and sang at weddings and funerals and also used to help to pump the organ.

After school started in September, they had time off to pick potatoes. In their own time they helped with the hay-making, picked acorns for the pigs, picked rosehips and collected waste paper and cardboard to earn themselves a few coppers.

HONITON AFTERNOON

Honiton Afternoon WI were pleased to welcome Tony Burges as their speaker.

He told members he had been a Dartmoor Tour and an Exeter Red Coat Guide for many years, entertaining members with an illustrated talk and members were intrigued to hear of a number of legends involving tales of the devil, pixies and a hairy hand that appears on one of the old bridges when travellers are passing by.

Mr Burges' slides covered many aspects of the 385 square miles of the Moors. Members were able to see Bronze Age stones, round houses, clapper bridges and many other aspects of the area.

The Devon Air Ambulance Service will be the subject of the next meeting April 8th at 2pm in the Methodist Chapel. Visitors are always welcome to attend.

WHITFORD

The March meeting took place at Whitford Village Hall on Tuesday 12th and was very well attended.

President Marnie Beardsly welcomed members and visitors, took apologies and gave out birthday posies.

She then welcomed speaker Tom Coleman who gave a talk on the Orkney Isles.

Members agreed he was a brilliant speaker and very amusing. Lesley McGowan Lock gave the vote of thanks, as she was particularly pleased he had mentioned so many birds, herself being a keen birdwatcher.

In official business, members heard that more numbers were needed for the Spring Council meeting at Torquay. Maureen Phillips volunteered to be delegate at Cardiff for the annual general meeting.

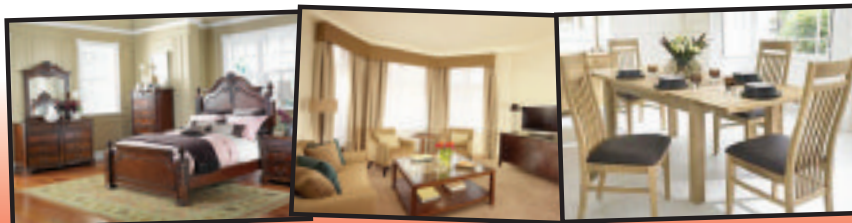

The Spring Group Meeting will take place at Axmouth Village on May 13th at 7.30pm, a swishing afternoon will be held on Tuesday, May 7th at Whitford Village Hall, and a skittles and fish and chips evening on Tuesday, May 21st also in the hall.

The WI laptop has been purchased and buddy schemes would now be set up.

Nominations for a charity to support for the year will be taken at the next meeting on Tuesday, April 9th in the village hall, 7.30pm, where the subject will be "Work of a United Nations Peacekeeper". All welcome.

Touring opera in Hawkchurch

CHILDREN from Hawkchurch, Musbury and Membury primary schools were treated to a show by the English Touring Opera last week.

The pupils gathered in Hawkchurch Village Hall for a performance of "Laika the Space Dog", currently touring around the country.

This is a new science-theme opera for Key Stage 2 children, telling the story of the first dog in orbit, through music, puppetry and filmed animation, previously shown at the Science Museum in London.

Based in 1950s Russia, the show gave the children plenty of opportunities to join in singing, answer science questions and learn about the solar system.

DUNKESWELL pre-school celebrated World Book Day fancy dress-style, with staff and children dressing up as their favourite book characters. There were witches and tigers, pirates and superheroes and the children all received a £1 book voucher. Pulman's View from the churches

With NIGEL SPELLER

Linda Chester writes: Mention the word Easter to children and young people and their response will inevitably be Easter eggs. But there is far more to Easter than chocolate eggs.

This is Holy Week, the central focus in the Christian Church. We commemorate the last days of Jesus' life 2000 years ago; the unjust trial and the vicious, cruel death by crucifixion. This is not just a story confined to historical Palestine, but a window on the political intrigues and power struggles which culminated in the sacrifice of an innocent man.

Human nature doesn't change and we continue to experience power struggles and violence all over the world, where the innocent still suffer. The sacrifice of Jesus' life showed God's love, unconditionally given for each one of us. What a different world it could be, if each us accepted God's love and lived in the peace and freedom He offers.

On Palm Sunday just passed crosses from our link with the Middle East churches were distributed in Devon parishes and local donkeys joined in church processions.

Musbury Churchwardens would like to share with the parishes in their Mission Community, the success of the launch of a coffee morning at Musbury. There were about 25 people, many of whom were Musbury villagers who do not normally come to church. Some ladies who live on their own came and found it very enjoyable and supportive. The next date is Wednesday, April 10th in the committee room of the village hall.

Word has just emerged from Westminster that a bill which would amend the law to allow women to become bishops in the Church of England has been introduced into the House of Commons, by a Labour MP Diana Johnson. It will have its second reading on May 3rd but is unlikely to progress further unless it receives government support. Diana Johnson said that the document published last month by Women in the Episcopate lacks a sense of urgency for change, and Elvis Presley's words apply - "we now need a little less conversation and a little more action."

News from Canon Andrew White at Baghdad shows no peace and continuing need for prayers - fresh bombings have been unbelievable. Many killed; the whole of Baghdad has closed. One member cannot even cross to this side of the Tigris, but it saved her life as the bomb went off where she should have been but she stopped with her friend for an ice cream!

A Happy Easter to all readers!

PETER Arnold is the face behind the Jurassic Folk & Acoustic sessions at the Grove in Seaton, aimed at encouraging local performers of any genre to get experience in performing to an audiences.

Peter first moved Seaton when he was 16, having originally come from Wales and also having lived in India for several years. After moving around with the RAF, attending university and pursuing a career in the building industry with major national contractors, he returned to Seaton in 2006.

He now lives with wife Hilary and has six sons and three grandchildren.

● WHY did you decide to set up Jurassic Folk and Acoustic?

Music has always been a major part of my life, and I was indeed a professional jazz trumpet player for six months, only because I didn't have a day job at the time! But over the years I got much more interested in folk music and Hilary and I ran Priddy Folk Festival for six years before we moved back to Seaton.

There had been a succession of little folk clubs and sessions in East Devon over the years, but when we got back here in 2006 there was nothing of that ilk going on. Knowing that there are lot of musicians, both experienced and aspiring, around here we thought it essential to get something going again.

● TELL us about your events at the Grove...

We started out running just one session a month with an open mic format and free admission. This built up over the years until we were getting so many people that we had to move into the bigger function room at the Grove.

This was a revelation, in that the acoustics were superb and the atmosphere even better, so we decided we ought to add a guest night each month, where we invite national and international stars to Seaton and for these nights we charge a very modest entrance fee to pay for this expense.

So now the guest nights are on the first Wednesday of the month, and the original singers nights with free admission continue on the third Wednesday of the month.

● HOW important is it to encourage young musicians and performers?

It is incredibly important because they are the life blood of the music, and the folk music scene is extremely lucky in that there has been an explosion of talent in the young all over the UK, and we have featured many of the best at our guest nights.

That first daunting step can often be difficult, but we've all been through it and, once you've played to an audience for the first time, you begin to understand the magic of music.

● DO you play music yourself?

Yes, it has always been as much a part of living as breathing. I asked for piano lessons when I was about 10, but an eternal regime of scales put me off. I took up the trumpet, inspired by Louis Armstrong, and formed a school jazz band and ultimately a pretty good university jazz band.

I then played with some well known London bands but was having trouble with my lip; I could play great for half an hour, but that's no good in a jazz gig where you've got to play for three hours.

I then took up double bass, and then guitar and got back to the piano and then singing. I have just now started to learn the concertina which is great fun.

● ARE you a member of any other local groups?

I have been heavily involved with Sidmouth Folk Week since we returned here, and I look after the online ticketing system and the database, amongst other things. I used to do a lot of sailing when I was younger but the bones won't take it now, but I love just being around boats so I am a member of both Axe Yacht Club and Beer Sailing Club.

● WHAT are your personal interests?

Apart from music, I have a passion for two sports - cricket and motor racing. I was never any good at cricket but I loved it, lounging around on the grass on hot summer days. As for motor racing, I did a season circuit racing in a Lotus Seven, and got one first, two seconds and two thirds before the money ran out, but it was enormous fun and got it out of my system.

60 seconds

Otherwise, it's reading, looking after my chickens, and grandchildren!

● WHAT do like about living in Seaton?

The sea, the ever-changing coast and the people, who include quite a lot of our family. Seaton isn't pretentious, you get what you see. I know there is rivalry between Seaton and Beer, but I live halfway between them and feel I have a foot in each camp, and don't forget historic Axmouth too, what one can't provide, one of the others does. We're very lucky.

● WHAT would you like to see changed about the town?

Poor old Seaton has had a very rough deal recently, and one has despaired of a system of local government which takes not a blind bit of notice of the wishes of the inhabitants. The recent revelations about the activities of certain councillors have all the hallmarks of being just the tip of an iceberg of corruption, and has only just confirmed what many people had guessed was behind some of the otherwise inexplicable decisions foisted upon us.

I would wish that a thorough investigation is instigated into this matter, and that those responsible should be removed from office and prosecuted if they have been acting in an illegal manner.

● WHERE is your ideal holiday destination and why?

Hilary and I have a problem here, she likes going somewhere exotic, but abroad to me means the other side of the Tamar, or in extremes, the Bristol Channel. Our friends find it very funny that the other year we elected to have our holiday in a beach hut at Branscombe! But I don't mind going as far as the Helford River in Cornwall - a cottage on a Cornish creek, sitting in the garden, watching the grandchildren crabbing, and the boats going by - absolute heaven!

● WHAT would you do if you won the Lottery?

If it was billions I'd fund the building and running of a pier at Fisherman's Gap, but only if everyone wanted such a thing. If it was quite a few million I'd donate it to the civil engineering work needed to reconnect Old Beer Road. But one thing I could do with just two or three million, would be to buy St Clare's and reinstate it as a cultural and educational centre. It used to be thriving and very popular until appallingly misguided government legislation and disinterest by the local council (and I don't mean Seaton Council) closed it down.

● WHICH three guests, past or present, would you invite to your dream dinner party?

I am presuming that Hilary would be present anyway, as she will have cooked it, far better than any restaurant. So first would be Louis Armstrong, my early idol, who is great fun and has a fund of stories about the early days of jazz. Next would be Winston Churchill, who I understand is no slouch with stories himself, and finally the greatest raconteur of all time, Peter Ustinov.

My female choice would be Gina Lollobrigida, she was so beautiful, the heartthrob of my youth, but she is also a very intelligent and fascinating woman.

It's time for change

HAVE you ever wondered why others seem to cope better with the ups and downs of daily life?

Does it seem that you never have any energy even though you have good health?

Sometimes life seems to sap our strength and challenge our efforts to keep going, especially when the day to day small stressors of daily life build up and seem set to overwhelm us.

If you are anxious about the future or dwelling in the past, then its time to learn how to become mindful and enjoy today and everyday.

Hypnotherapy doesn't have all the answers but it can help.

It offers a helping hand up, it listens to what you need, and helps you make those changes so that you can see your way forward and take control of your own life.

It helps you unlock your true potential, and enables you to grow in confidence and remain calm and focused.

Michelle Hague has been helping people from many walks of life in her clinics in Axminster and Sidmouth, and specialises in Stress related conditions.

There is no Myth or Magic, no hype - but just a simple way of helping you to be the best you can be.

So if you want to make a change for the better, or suffer from low self esteem or a lack of confidence, need to change a habit or deal with fear or anxiety, call and find out if she can help you.

Call and see if Michelle can help you 07761 773563 or 01297 20144

Head To Feet

last approx. 1hr and can include soft relaxing music perfumed candles. Home visits for housebound and elderly.

Reflexology is a none abrasive therapy for the feet and hands. It is one of the oldest therapies. It is not just foot massage, as different parts of the body can be helped in different ways, palpating and pressure. It is very relaxing especially for people with long term problems, especially those caused by stress or those which causes stress. Reflexology reduces stress, enabling our bodies to work better, if we are less stressful we also have less pain and are less susceptible to common ailments, because our body and mind is working better therefore we are healthier.

Indian Head Massage also is very relaxing and has been helping people for hundreds of years. It can be given with or without oils, but obviously the use of oils are more beneficial. The western therapy includes shoulder, upper spine, upper arms, neck head and face. This therapy can be given sitting in a chair and can be done on top of thin clothing. Some employers are offering Indian Head Massage for their employees in stressful jobs, having realized the benefits of improved productivity. I can also include a beauty massage if required for a little extra charge.

Therapeutic Massage [Back and shoulder with oils]

It is surprising how many problems start with stress from the spine and shoulders, which can effect our lives in lots of ways. someone once said " more time is lost off work because of back and shoulders problems than most anything else....

I WOULD like to welcome you to Complementary Therapies at Bliss Therapies.

My therapy room is based at my home in Sidmouth and home visits available too.

The therapy room is comfortable and relaxing, I provide heated massage couch/foot spa bath/afuma recliner chair with holistic music to create a soothing ambience with scented candles. Relax...Rebalance...the wellbeing experience to holistic harmony!

Reflexology is a specialised form of compression massage, applied to the feet with the fingers and thumbs. Every part of the body has its corresponding reflex point on the feet. By working over the reflex areas on the feet, imbalances in the energy pathways may be detected. Reflexology can help to rebalance the body as a whole.

Indian Head massage is a calming and yet energising massage focussing on vital energy points on the face, head, shoulders and upper back. If you are stressed, angry or tired, tensions tend to accumulate in these areas resulting in stiff necks, sore shoulders, headaches and eye strain. It can release blockages and so relieve build up of tension.

Holistic body massage is a deep tissue massage that eases away body tension and loosens tight knotted muscles. This deeply relaxing and yet invigorating massage can bring great relief to those who suffer from aches and stiffness especially shoulders and back. The holistic massage includes an amazing facial massage!

✿ Flexible Toning

JOANNE Cheesman, owner of Flexible Toning in Colyton, explains why toning machines are the answer for thousands of people.

"I hate gyms, I find them intimidating places, full of toned, healthy people, who spend hours on the treadmill and make it look effortless, I don't relate to that. I wanted to tone my body without all that effort, in a calm and friendly environment but with all the same, great results." We offer two types of toning machines, our multi-tone beds are suitable for all age groups and are even recommended by physiotherapists. The beds do all the hard work and are so easy to use, each programme targets a different core muscle group within your body, even the less mobile can use them. Our vibrating plate machines offer a super quick, high intensity workout in a fraction of the time and this is achieved by simply standing on the machine. We offer all our new customers a free trial and this consultation works out which type of machine and programmes will best suit them to achieve maximum results, by targeting specific problem areas. You can contact Flexible Toning on 01297 552951 or by emailing them at info@flexibletoning.co.uk. More information is also available on their website flexibletoning.co.uk.

✿ Val Davis - Traditional Acupuncture

Acupuncture can improve and maintain health and energy and enhance a sense of well-being

ACCORDING to traditional Chinese philosophy, our health is dependent on the body's motivating energy (qi) moving in a smooth and balanced way through a series of channels beneath the skin.

Acupuncture can affect the quality of qi, your body's vital energy, by the insertion of very fine needles into specific points along these channels. This stimulates the body's healing response and restores natural balance. Treatment is aimed at the root cause of your condition as well as your main symptoms. This approach helps with resolving your problem and enhancing your feeling of well-being. You may notice other nagging problems resolve as your main health complaint improves.

The type of conditions that I mostly see in my clinics include the following: arthritis, back pain and sciatica, poor circulation, low energy levels, hormonal/menopausal symptoms, pregnancy management, fertility problems, weight management, and addictions such as smoking. However, you don't have to be ill in the conventional sense to benefit from acupuncture, sometimes people come to see me because they are feeling low, unwell in themselves, or maybe not sleeping as well as they would like to.

Professional Acupuncturists spend at least 3 years training at degree level to become an Acupuncturist. We are then entitled to join the British Acupuncture Council and to use the letters Lic.Ac., B.Ac.C after our names. We also have public liability and professional indemnity insurance. Many of us have also studied at post-graduate level and are constantly updating our skills and experience.

So, why not give me a ring and see if I can help.

AXMINSTER Garden Machinery was formed in 1999 Phil Roper who has worked in the horticultural industry as a garden machinery expert for over 32 years.

Axminster Garden Machinery have a large showroom and parts department as well as a fully equipped workshop so you can actually view and handle virtually every type of machinery we supply. If working hours mean you can't come during the opening ours someone can meet you on site or open the show room for you at an arranged time. Ideally they always like to do a site visit especially when choosing perhaps ride-ons or larger equipment and give you some honest advice and to see the garden or working area. The aim is to know that the customer's needs and concerns have been met to give them quality, user-friendly equipment at the right price with a full service package, to make the maintenance of their garden a pleasurable experience.

Here there is always someone to help with machinery to suit all budgets. Everything they supply is for the UK market and is always fully pre-delivery inspected.

They only take payment when the customer is happy!

N.C.Jacks Landscaping

N.C.JACKS Landscaping is a small, family-run business that has been working in the East Devon and West Dorset area since 1986. The business aims to provide a high quality service designed to meet your individual requirements. This may be a design to completion project or an individual job such as a patio or fencing.

Whether you are looking for a patio area to relax and enjoy your garden from, or just a path way to access another area, paving is the ideal choice. Hard wearing and permanent the style of finishes is extensive.

Dry Stone provides a very strong and flexible wall. Traditionally built with natural stone with no mortar or concrete and simply back filled with soil it works well in a cottage garden where a more traditional look is required. It provides an attractive base for plants to grow through.

We carry out a full range of fencing services from traditional panels, close boarding and post and rail, as well as trellis and gates.

Decking provides a more contemporary hard garden surface. Softer than paving it can be used on its own or as a complement to hard paving. It is well suited to level uneven awkward sites. Balustrading and hand rails give a practical and attractive finish.

LUCY Ward doesn't just sing songs.. she lives them. Everyone who saw her at Jurassic Folk last year will know the truth of that. After winning the Horizon Award at the 2012 BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards, she has become a star of the festival and folk club circuit, and compliments flow such as from Mike Harding "... one of the best things I have heard in years", and from Mojo magazine "... Brit folk's most vibrant and forthright new young talent..." Lucy is a 22 year old from Derby, and she plays guitar and other instruments but considers her voice to be her first instrument. There is a natural and easy sound to her music that is brought to life by expressive performance, breath-taking delivery and Lucy's own brand of banter and crowd participation. Lucy has the ability to still an audience with the strength and purity of her voice, and she is developing into a fine songwriter and a consummate performer: She wows her audience with, not just her stunning voice, but also her genuine and sparkling personality. Check her out at www.lucywardsings.com, and in particular her blog of her recent trip to Folk Alliance International in Toronto, and also a film taken of Lucy last year by BBC East Midlands, both of which are most revealing. Her appearance again at Seaton really should not be missed while we can still afford her!

It all happens at The Grove, Seaton, on Wednesday, April 3rd. Doors open 7.45pm, advance tickets are £8 (£10 on the door) from www.eastdevonfolk.org or phone 01297 20064.

Honiton Players looking for extra hands for Halloween show

'VIAGARA Falls' is to be performed by Honiton Players in Honiton and Feniton. The play was first performed by the I.E. Theatre company in Axminster, and now, with the addition of a ghost and a Blues Brothers concert, will be in front of East Devon audiences again, starting on Halloween.

This comedy is set in a haunted house on Dartmoor, where the owner of a Sat Nav company is trying to tie up a contract with his most important customer. Everything that possibly could go wrong does, and worse. Frogs arrive, an Arabian Princess flees, Blues Brothers sing, and then there are the double glazing salesmen...

The title refers to a potion which produces the same kind of magic as experienced by Titania in Midsummer's Night Dream.

All who would like to take part in this production in any capacity - actors, backstage, front of house - are invited to a workshop in the crypt of St Paul's church on Honiton High Street on Monday, April 15th at 7pm. A choreographer for the Blues Brothers routines would be particularly welcome. Copies of the script can be obtained ahead of the workshop from Honiton Toy Shop.

Local Devon Artists making all the right noise at London's O2 Arena

LOCAL musician Alan West has just returned to his Devon home from London, where he performed an opening set, accompanied by local long-term songwriting and performing partner Steve Black, and guitarist Adam Sweet, for the prestigious C2C Country to Country festival at the O2 Arena.

Country superstars joined forces for the first time in London to create this one of a kind event. Some of the biggest names in the business journeyed across the Atlantic for the huge two-day music festival extravaganza on Saturday March 16 and Sunday March 17th.

The line up featured some of the world's leading country music artists on stage together, including Tim McGraw, Carrie Underwood, Darius Rucker, Vince Gill, Little Big Town, Brantley Gilbert, Kristian Bush and LeAnn Rimes.

Country to Country organisers launched a competition on Facebook asking their fans to recommend a UK Acoustic Country Act to fill the opening slot. After reviewing over 500 recommendations, the talent agent from the C2C management team chose Devon based Country/Americana Artist Alan West, and what a great choice!

Alan said of the gig: "I am extremely proud and indeed privileged to have been a part of this festival, which it would seem is going to be an annual event, and a long overdue shot in the arm for country music here in The UK. One of the most interesting and exciting things from my perspective as both an artist and a fan of the music was the amount of young people at the show. Add this to the fantastic response here in the UK to the US drama series 'Nashville' which is being screened at the moment on More4 and I believe a very solid platform has been laid from which we can move forward. We had a ball... Thank you Country2Country... onward and upward!"

Axminster based Singer/Songwriter Steve Black, who enjoyed the recent success of winning 'Best original song' in the British Country Music

Association Awards 2011 shortly after the release of his solo album 'All the Best' on local record label NEO Music, has been performing in a duo with Alan for several years now.

"It was a fantastic event!" said Steve. "Well organised, professional, exciting, friendly and packed with great live music! For me it was a fresh and positive movement forward for the music I love. To get a chance to air my songs at this event with Alan, who I and many others regard as having the finest country voice in the UK and Adam, who has the potential to be a world class guitar player, was a joy and I thank all concerned at C2C for staging such an innovative show."

Exeter based guitarist Adam Sweet, also signed to NEO Music, and currently in the studio recording his debut solo album, has recently been collaborating with Alan and Steve.

Adam said: "I've been working very closely with Alan and Steve recently, so I was delighted for them when I heard that Alan had got the gig. It was a real privilege for me to be able to join them to perform at such a prestigious event, and the response to our opening set was fantastic. I hope that being a part of the inaugural C2C festival will result in many more people becoming aware of Alan and Steve's music."

The sound of Nashville at London's most popular venue marked a major milestone in the UK's love of Country and Americana Music, opening many eyes to the new wave of well deserved popularity that the genre is currently receiving here in the UK.

You can find out more about Alan, Steve and Adam, including where you can see them live on their websites: www.alanwest.co.uk

WINNER OF BBC FOLK AWARD FOR BEST NEWCOMER COMES TO MARINE THEATRE

SINCE Sam Carter released his debut album 'Keepsakes' in 2009, there has been a mounting excitement about this songwriter, guitarist and singer.

At the time he was an Emerging Artist In Residence at The Southbank Centre in London and has since supported Bellowhead on a UK tour, performed in the Middle East and UK with the British Council's 'Shifting Sands' project, played to thousands as part of the all-star line-up for the tour 'The Lady: A Homage To Sandy Denny', performed on major venue and festival stages in his own right and walked away with Horizon Award for best newcomer at the 2010 BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards. And his arrival hasn't gone unnoticed by some of the finest singer-songwriters and guitarists in the world today. In the three years since 'Keepsakes' was released he has performed alongside all of the following: Nic Jones, Martin Carthy, Richard Thompson, Chris Wood and Martin Simpson.

New Company! New Show! New Vision!

SARA Perry will be showcasing an original musical works 'I Dream Of Dali' at Beer Mariners Hall this Easter, on April 12th at 4.00pm.

The former creator of successful theatre and arts programme Conf-dance has put together a brand new professionally focused performance group, Mash Fusion. Made up of several individuals, both adults and children, hand picked for their passion and dedication in music and dance it promises to be an exciting and stylish addition to the area.

Following the success of 'Alice in Wonderland' and 'Red', Sara has created this imaginative project using inspiration from the great late surrealist painter Salvador Dali.

Sara believes the music and dance compositions reflect the "magnificence and madness" of the artist whilst at the same time illustrating his symbolism.

This exciting and entertaining performance integrates a mish mash of different skills, such as a combination of baton twirling with street and classical dance, as well as a mix up of music, including Black Eyed Peas versus Les Mis, and Amy Winehouse versus Stevie Wonder.

Like all Sara's productions, although a delight to watch, there is generally an underlying message and this show is no different.

The story is an interpretation of one person's quick rise to stardom and the price that is attached. Although fame brings wealth and acclaim it also brings with it an intensity and pressure which ultimately can lead to a fall from grace and loss of social standing, which for some can and has had tragic consequences.

The portrayal reflects readily on the lives of Monroe, Garland and Winehouse, hinting at how we can so easily become a victim of society and it's egotistical cliché, that living someone else's dream can sometimes turn out to be a personal nightmare, and how often a beautiful fantasy can be a metamorphosis into something ugly by the image that reality shows us.

Though expectations have become higher and competition is much more fierce, the arts industry is much the same in that overnight success does not ensure long term stability.

Like Dali, Sara is always looking for something different, seeing beyond her limits, constantly evolving and being open to new and interesting perspective. She says "I believe that making room for change prevents us from being stagnant, and that every move we make, every action we take is a risk. Others may be unable to understand my creativity or what is in my mind and some may even fear it, but I know most would love to be a part of it."

As Dali quotes "There is only one difference between a madman and me. The madman thinks he is sane. I know I am mad. Surrealism is destructive, but it destroys only what it considers to be shackles limiting our vision."

If you wish to be a part of this vision then reserve your tickets, costing £5 (adults) and £3

(children), at Osbornes, Fore street, Seaton, emailing mashfusion@mail.com, or calling or texting on 01297 23474 / 07939946780.

By taking part in the exclusive workshops, you too could have an opportunity of being considered for future projects. Look Mash Fusion up on facebook and check out the sessions and auditions in your area.

Brewing down at the Old Town Mill

BUSINESS PROFILE

The Town Mill Brewery
Lyme Regis

It's Lyme's biggest business success story – the astonishing growth of The Town Mill Brewery, which in just three years has gone from nowhere to now selling more than 1,500 pints of its full-flavoured draught and hand-bottled beers every week.

By Geoff Baker

The remarkable rise of the micro brewer based in Lyme's Town Mill artisan quarter is an investor's dream – bucking the national trend and beating the Recession with local ales that are selling so fast that the company is now having to build a much bigger brewery in order to keep up with demand.

Although overall UK beer sales have fallen by 15% since 2008 and were down last year by 5.3%, the Town Mill Brewery's sales rocketed by 95% in 2012.

That's almost 10 times the average sales increase of 9.7% recorded by the Society for Independent Brewers for 2011-2012.

No wonder that as the brewery marks its third birthday this Easter its local founders are now saying "cheers" to a bright idea which, as director Julian Shaw puts it, was "the sort of thing that you talk about if you've had a few pints".

Although The Cobb remains Lyme's iconic symbol, the Town Mill Brewery's Cobb Ale is putting the town on wider maps – with the Lyme brand beer and its cellar mates Black Ven, Lyme Gold and Town Mill Best having sold to 166 pubs and 93 shops throughout the West Country.

"We sold a total of 80,000 pints last year," said sales director Allan Swannell, "our only problem has been the lack of space to make more beer at the Town Mill."

Any issue there has now been resolved with expansion to a new brewhouse on George Eyre's Saborow Estate at nearby Thorncombe.

At 10 times the space of the existing Town Mill site, the new brewhouse gives the brewery the capacity to expand to a potential 14,000 pints per week.

But growth is not to be at the cost of master brewer Rainer Dreselhaus's dedicated care and attention to the distinctive taste of the local ales that thousands of beer-drinkers are clearly clamouring for.

"We take a green approach which is key to our strategy," said Mr Swannell, "At the Saborow Brewhouse the water for the beer comes from a natural spring on the estate and it is heated by a wood-burning stove that uses wood from the estate. The new brewery will produce more beer at much lower cost."

Back at the Mill yard where the brewery and beer shop has become one of Lyme's most interesting attractions, business is so bustling that the shop is now open seven days a week as hundreds of visitors come to buy Lyme beers by the swing-top bottle, carry case, jug and, for party planners, 5, 10 and 20 litre polypins and 72-pint firkins.

"We have fascinated customers visiting from around Britain and all over the world," said brewery manager Richard Surtees.

"They feel that we're adding to Lyme's charm and character and they are loving the beer."

Besides the lure of the variety of ale and porter, the Town Mill Brewery is also drawing crowds for its range of Dorset Nectar cider and a unique line of chutneys and mustards that are made with the award-winning real beer.

"The mustards and chutneys are selling out almost as soon as they're in the shop," said Mr Surtees.

But it is the Lyme brand beer that promises the best return for investors looking to back the new 'localism economics' in its most attractive example of growth. With future plans including teaming up with the Town Mill Café so that visitors can enjoy fresh, real beer with a meal in the Mill Yard, sales manager Penny Corp-Palmer finding new trade business and their cask beers reaching still further markets, The Town Mill Brewery looks to be business with a good head on it.

Are small business employers in the South West ready for automatic enrolment of pensions?

A RECENT report on automatic enrolment for pensions from The National Employment Savings Trust (NEST) has revealed that so far less than half of employers with under 5,000 employees have confirmed their pension provider.

Chartered Accountant Robert Stone, from Ilminster in Somerset, is concerned that small business employers have not given themselves enough time to prepare for their enrolment dates, which are staged between June 2015 and April 2017. "Those dates may seem a long way off," said Robert Stone, "but too many small businesses are still largely ignorant of what they have to do to comply."

Automatic Enrolment is a new law that came into force in October 2012. It means every employer must enrol employees aged between 22 and state pension age, who work in the UK and earn over £8,105 a year, into a workplace pension scheme.

Employers will have to formally assess their employees to decide who must be enrolled. Employees can opt out, but they must be automatically enrolled back in at regular intervals, usually every three years. All employers will have to provide workers with a workplace pension scheme by law over the next few years.

When does Automatic Enrolment start?

The staging date for pensions automatic enrolment for each employer is based on the number of people in its PAYE scheme on 1 April 2012. The larger the employer's PAYE scheme, the earlier the staging date, with the first staging date being 1 October 2012 for employers with 120,000 or more. Employers with fewer than 50 employees will have staging dates between June 2015 and April 2017.

What happens on the staging date?

From their staging date onwards, employers must automatically enrol eligible employees in a pension scheme when they reach the income tax threshold (£8105 for 2012/13), but contributions will be based on any earnings over the employee threshold for national insurance contributions (£5564 for 2012/13).

How much will employers have to contribute?

The contribution rate for workplace pension schemes is being phased in between 1 October 2012 and 1 October 2018. There is a transitional period for contribution rates leading up to 1 October 2018. For employers, this will be a contribution rate of 1% up to 30 September 2017, 2% between 1 October 2017 and 30 September 2018, and 3% after that. Broadly speaking, the total minimum contribution required from 1 October 2018 will be 8% of a specified band of earnings, comprising an employer contribution (3%), an employee contribution (4%) and tax relief (1%).

What steps should employers take now?

Employers should: • Check their staging date. • If they have an existing pension scheme, they should find out whether it will qualify for auto-enrolment.

• Start to budget for the cost of the contributions they will have to make. • They should contact their accountant and/or financial adviser, who will be able to steer them through the whole process and advise on the right pension scheme.

For further information on the NEST UK employer pension scheme visit: <http://www.nest-pensions.org.uk>

Robert Stone would be delighted to answer any questions that employers or employees might have on auto-enrolment. He can be contacted on 01460 55661 or by email: robert@robert-stone.co.uk www.robert-stone.co.uk

Starting up a business, a guide from GOV.UK

Start with an idea

IF YOU'RE thinking of starting up a business, you'll first need to come up with a realistic idea that you can turn into a product or service. Find local support, including help with developing business ideas, on the National Enterprise Network website.

Register your idea

You might have already come up with an idea for a business you think there's a market for, or invented something you think people will want to buy. Find out how to register your idea to make sure nobody copies it without your permission.

Turn your idea into a business

1. Research your market - identify potential customers. Talk to them and find out if your idea is meeting a real need.

2. Develop and plan - test your product or service with real customers, make changes, and test it again. Keep doing this until you're sure there's a demand for it.

3. Find partners and suppliers - think about who you're going to work with to develop and sell your idea.

4. Set up your business - work out which legal structure is right for you, and whether you want to sell shares.

5. Get funding - explore different sources of business finance, from bank loans to government-backed schemes.

If you're unemployed, you might be able to get support and financial help from Jobcentre Plus.

Contact the Business Link Helpline for help and advice on starting or growing your business.

Business Link Helpline 0845 600 9006 Monday to Friday, 9am to 6pm

Part 2: Research your market

Test your business idea with potential customers to check if there's real demand for what you're planning to sell. This lets you find out about any problems and fix them before you've wasted too much time, effort and money.

Watch a video on researching your market to understand your customers' needs.

1. Identify potential customers. Talk to them and find out about their needs.

2. If you can, make a basic version of your product or service (a 'prototype'). Work out the cheapest and quickest way of making something that lets you find out if you're meeting a real customer need.

3. Test it with them and get feedback. Find out what they'd be willing to pay for it. Try out different prices with different customers in a consistent, realistic way to see what people will really pay. Can you make enough money for a return on your investment?

4. If there are other businesses competing for your market, think about what will make you different. Can you provide something better than what's already available?

Example

If you're in retail you could try different opening hours or home delivery. You could aim for a specific group of customers who aren't being targeted by other businesses

(a 'market niche'), make something that's easier to use than competitors' products, or meet a customer need by solving a problem that nobody's ever solved before.

If you're starting a retail business, think about testing your idea by taking a short-term lease on premises for a few weeks or months. Watch videos on choosing your business premises, and deciding whether to rent or buy.

Part 3: Develop and plan

Develop and change your idea based on what you've found out about your customers' needs before investing. Deal with any problems you've found with your product or service, including the way you're planning to make and sell it.

Go back to your customers and test again.

Keep doing this until you're confident that they'll be willing to pay what you're asking, and that you're meeting their needs.

If there's no real demand for your idea, think about changing it completely. Is there another product, service or market that uses your skills and resources in a different way?

Write a business plan

A business plan is a good way to sum up:

- the customer need you're aiming to meet
- how your business will meet that need while making a profit

It should clearly show the results of your customer research, and that you're able to explain how you can turn your idea into a viable business before you invest lots of time and money.

Your plan can also be a very helpful tool to convince other people of the value of your business. This includes potential partners and sources of funding.

Part 4: Find partners and suppliers
Many businesses start with just one person, known as a 'sole trader'. If you set up as a sole trader you'll be self-employed, which means you'll be your own boss.

You'll also be responsible for:

- managing your own time
- looking after all of your company's admin and accounts
- taking risks with your own money, particularly if you're leaving full-time employment

Whether you set up as a sole trader, partnership or limited company, your business is likely to involve working with more people to develop and sell your idea - including partners, suppliers and distributors.

Partners

Finding a co-founder with relevant skills and knowledge that are different to yours lets you focus on what you're best at.

For example, you might be selling a product you invented, or a service that uses a particular skill or talent you have, but not have any hands-on experience of running a business. If so, you might want to work with someone who has business and management skills, and can look after things like financial planning and recruitment.

Consider working with several partners in a team. You'll be able to share responsibilities including risk, getting funding, expertise and sharing contacts.

Suppliers

Whether you're making a product and you need raw materials, or supplies and equipment to run your service, many businesses need to work closely with suppliers.

Search online and talk to other businesses. Draw up a list of potential suppliers. Get estimates, then go and talk to them so you can:

- negotiate prices
- start to develop relationships
- get a sense of which suppliers are reliable and trustworthy

You'll need to agree on payment terms with your suppliers, and get them in writing. This includes your 'trade credit' period (how many days you agree to pay invoices within), and whether they can offer you discounts for things like buying in bulk or quick payments.

You'll also need to find suppliers for the equipment you'll need to run your business, including your IT systems.

Getting your product to market

If you're planning to sell your product in shops and expand outside of your local area, you'll need to work with a distributor. If you're selling overseas, consider (working with a freight forwarder)/freight-forwarding-moving-goods ("Freight forwarders: moving goods") who can deal with exporting your goods.

Build a website

You can also attract customers and increase awareness by setting up a website for your business. Search online for resources, as well as local web design and development companies you can work with.

You may also be able to sell your product or service directly through your website.

Part 5: Set up your business

You'll need to decide which legal structure is right for your business before you register and start trading.

It's important to understand the different risks and benefits before you choose - whether you set up as a sole trader, limited company or partnership affects:

- the amount of financial risk you're taking on
- the way you'll need to pay tax, and report to HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) and Companies House (for limited companies and some types of partnership)
- how much control you have over how your business is run

Employing people

If you'll need extra help or people with specific skills to run your business, you might decide to take on employees. Find out about your legal responsibilities as an employer, including things like pay, tax and insurance, before you start employing staff.

You'll need to register as an employer with HMRC if you want to employ people, even if you're a sole trader.

Other responsibilities

Even if you're not employing people, you'll need to get insurance for your business. Find an authorised insurer on the British Insurance Brokers' Association (BIBA) website. Depending on the type of activities your business is involved in, you might need to get certain licences and permits. Use the licence finder tool to find out which licenses and permits you need to get.

Working with advisers

Make sure you get an estimate from any advisers you work with, and agree in advance what they will do.

Some advisers will charge an hourly fee, and others may offer a fixed price for a piece of work. It's always worth getting several quotes before you decide who to use, so you can compare prices and make sure you'll be able to work well together.

Accountants

An accountant can help with things like financial advice and managing growth. You can also appoint them as an 'agent' to deal with your tax affairs, submit your VAT returns and deal with HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) on your behalf.

Legal advisers

You should also consider getting legal advice when setting up your business. This is particularly important if you want to sell shares.

Part 6: Get funding

When you start a business, there'll usually be period when you're investing lots of time, effort and money before you start making a profit. It's important to research your market to make sure your customers will really pay for your product or service before you do this.

Once you're confident that they will, you should explore different sources of funding to help with the costs of starting up your business.

Government schemes

If you need some initial funding to test and develop your business idea, you might be able to get help from a government-backed support scheme.

Get a bank loan

Once you can show that there's a market for your idea, one option for funding your start-up costs is getting a bank loan. You'll need to be able to:

- give the bank realistic cash flow forecasts
- prove that you'll be able to pay back the loan with interest

The bank might require you to provide security against your loan, like your house or car, in case you don't repay. You should think carefully about how much risk you're willing to take on before you get a loan or give any personal guarantees.

Selling shares

If you need more investment, you might be able to raise money to fund your growth plan by selling shares in your business. You can do this by getting friends and family to invest. However, if this isn't enough you can look for sources of 'equity funding', including:

- 'business angels' (wealthy individuals who invest in start-up businesses)
- 'venture capital' from companies who invest large sums of money in businesses that they think will grow quickly (known as 'private equity' companies)
- 'crowdfunding' (where a large group of people invest money in a business idea, usually via the internet)
- alternative sources of funding like 'peer-to-

peer lending'

Any outside investors will own the company jointly with you and the other founders. They have a say in the running of the company, and are entitled to get a share of the profits, known as 'dividends'.

You should get legal advice before selling shares in your business.

Search for equity funding

Find out about equity funding and venture capital, and search for sources of funding from the:

- British Private Equity & Venture Capital Association (BVCA)
- UK Business Angels Association
- Next Generation Finance Consortium (NGFC)

You can also sign up for the Seed Enterprise Investment Scheme - your investors will get certain tax reliefs, making your company more attractive to investment.

Correling Web Design

CORRELING have a wealth of experience building websites for the holiday, B&B, pub and restaurant markets. With the vast majority of people looking for their next holiday/gastro experience online it is important that your website stands out from the rest.

Website visitors will decide in the first 3 seconds whether to stop and browse your site ... or move on. It is therefore crucial that your website is able to engage the visitor at the very outset. Images that make your accommodation or restaurant inviting as well as the tone and language you use with intelligent grouping of information, all play a part in this.

Availability of rooms, properties and dining tables can easily be integrated into your website leading to a booking at the click of a button. Why make things difficult for your website visitors? With more and more people browsing using their mobile phone, it is also worth considering a website that can adapt in size. If you have a website and think it's time for a change or are new to these markets then give Heather at Correling a call on 07793 633297 to arrange a no obligation visit or see her website at <http://correling.co.uk>

My name is Chris Reed and I'm one of the team at Frank Property.

We've now been open for business in Seaton for two and a half years and although the market has been challenging, we're seeing signs of improvement making all the hard work of establishing a local new business worthwhile. I truly believe that Seaton has a bright future and although my job is about selling houses, it is also about selling the town, which I have pleasure in doing.

The team at Frank Property would like to welcome back Laura Gould following her travels to New Zealand. We're delighted to have such a young, local, confident and enthusiastic world traveller back on board, who's passion for property is in abundance. Our customers will enjoy seeing and catching up with Laura - and those who are new to Frank Property, feel free to pop in to see what we're all about!

SERVICE*LINDY

Podiatrist / Chiropodist

I HOLD my private chiropody clinic at Townsend House Surgery in Seaton on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

I offer a range of treatments from a simple nail cut to nail surgery, and each treatment plan is priced accordingly.

The nail cutting only service is a shorter appointment and is ideal for those that don't have any other foot care needs. Others like to alternate nail cuts with chiropody treatments as it best suits their requirements. I always aim to work with the patient to find the best treatment plan to suit
each individual. Patients feet are then monitored during treatment so that changes can be made should the need arise.

Diabetic patients who attend for chiropody will also have a diabetic foot assessment carried out during their first treatment, and will then be monitored and re-assessed as necessary.

My chiropody clinics are available to anybody seeking help with their feet and Townsend House and I look forward to welcoming you.

Bookings can be made by calling 01297

Budget extends tax-appeal of Vauxhall Ampera

VAUXHALL welcomed the announcement in the Budget that Ultra Low Emission Vehicles (ULEVs) with 0-50g/km CO2 emissions, such as its revolutionary Ampera, will remain at five per cent Benefit-in-Kind (BiK) in 2015-16 tax year, rising to seven per cent in 2016-17 tax year.

This means 27g/km Ampera

Earth-owners paying higher rate tax will now save around £2,200 in tax over a four-year period.

Versus the 'green' competition, Ampera BiK savings speak for themselves. The cutting edge extended-range electric vehicle saves £5,559 against an Audi A4 2.0TDI 163 SE 4-dr, £4,865 on a BMW 320d Efficient Dynamics 4-dr and £1,657 versus a Toyota Prius 1.8 VVTi T3 5-dr CVT.

'We are delighted the Government has introduced the 0-50g/km bracket in which our cutting edge Ampera is classified,' said James Taylor, Vauxhall's Fleet Sales Director. 'Creating this ultra-low carbon band means BiK rates stay at their lowest for company drivers looking to choose an Ampera and companies looking to add a to their company car choice list can do so with confidence now the Government's ULEV BiK strategy is confirmed until 2020.

'The additional step of extending first year capital allowances to 2018 for vehicles emitting less than 75g/km shows the Government recognises the impact this significant cash flow benefit has on companies fleeing ultra-low carbon vehicles.' Arriving in UK showrooms last year, Ampera has a real-world battery range of between 25-50 miles, after which a small range-extending generator intervenes to provide up to an additional 300-plus mile range. At all times, the Ampera's wheels are electrically driven, setting it apart from conventional hybrid vehicles.

Ampera pricing starts at £29,995 on-the-road (including £5,000 Government grant) for the Earth model. The car is available through a network of 24 specialist Vauxhall dealers and is covered by the manufacturer's industry-leading Lifetime Warranty.

The revolutionary vehicle is also offered on the 3-Day Test Drive programme through which customers can test a Vauxhall for three days, without paying a penny more than the fuel used.

BiK taxation paid will be £3,074 – a saving of £2,236.

FIXTURE PILE UP CAUSING CONCERN

ON a day when just four matches beat the weather, Division Three leaders DOLPHIN left it late to preserve their unbeaten away record.

However an 88th minute equaliser at NEWTOWN RESERVES on their Broadclyst ground kept Dolphin ahead of the pack and still favourites for the title.

It was a cracking match against the third place team who led with their 50th goal of the season from Luke Jones.

Both teams had chances but Dolphin were running out of time when they finally nailed a point with a Gary Webb strike. Ricky Carpenter was rated as Dolphins man of the match.

During the week CREDITON RESERVES regained second place when they scored in the last fifteen minutes to come from behind for a 2-1 victory against a battling THORVERTON RESERVES.

UPLOWMAN ATHLETIC upset the odds in Division Five with a 2-1 win at neighbours SAMPFORD PEVERELL. Rob Hannah and Tom Gozma scored for the Redwoods.

BEER ALBION RESERVES also went against the grain with a 2-1 win against promotion seeking AWLISCOMBE UNITED. Sam Phillips and Adam Wakely scored the Fishermens goals.

HALWILL RESERVES were the third side to register a 2-1 victory against HONITON TOWN RESERVES in Division Seven.

Robbie Holland with a penalty and Tom Hall with a second half winner beat a Honiton side who found home keeper Ollie Richards in brilliant form.

* The Fresha Devon & Exeter League committee met last night for their regular monthly management meeting but are aware they face a growing concern that they might not finish the season, and is certainly a topic on the agenda for discussion.

The continuing bad weather has left a number of clubs facing a massive backlog of fixtures and they are running out of time.

There have been other seasons when matches have not been played, mainly in the 1950s and 1960s, but that was mainly for other factors and was usually only a handful of matches altogether.

Then of course there was 2001 - the year that the Foot & Mouth epidemic aborted the season, but that was a one-off and hopefully will never be repeated.

However, this season could still be a disaster if the poor weather continues and with Easter coming early, next weekend in fact, a wipe out then could leave the League in critical mode.

It has been a baptism of fire for new fixtures secretary Chris Cole who took over from Mr Pat Leisk, and even at this stage Chris has a huge list of games to slot in somewhere.

He has been reluctant to get all the games dated, because of continuing postponements, but fortunately he is not one to panic, and believes that he can get the job done.

The worst affected team in the entire League is HONITON TOWN in Division Two who have only played eight league matches.

Honiton must squeeze in another 18 games before the end of May and their task is made more difficult because their ground at Mountbatten Park is shared with cricket, and that means no home games after April 30th.

Honiton do have another option with a third ground used by the youth teams, but they would prefer not to exercise that.

Many other clubs have only just reached double figures and face an agenda which could see them playing three matches a week.

Even teams like TIVERTON TOWN and CULLOMPTON RANGERS with floodlights will have hurdles to jump and with promotion and relegation such a big issue, the sheer intensity of the close season is going to cause a few surprises.

TEDBURN ST MARY in Division Three are another side with 17 games still to play, and although they have two grounds to choose from they still have to fit the games in.

It promises to be a mass rush to the finishing line but will everyone make it.

Ironically NEWTOWN 3rds in Division Four which has only 13 teams altogether, should have completed their season at Okehampton last week, but the weather intervened.

No final date has yet been sorted out, but that is the benefit of playing on a ground (Broadclyst) which so rarely has to postpone.

Cotley celebrates 60 years of racing

COMMENCING at 1.30pm on Easter Saturday (March 30th), the annual Cotley Point-to-Point will celebrate 60 years of outstanding amateur steeplechasing at one of the West Country's most charismatic racing venues, Cotley Farm, near Chard (TA20 3EP).

One of the highlights of this year's race meeting is an additional special restricted flat race in aid of the Dorset and Somerset Air Ambulance charity.

Open only to Cotley Hunt members riding their hunters, this promises to be a true amateur race, albeit a hotly contested one.

Vyvyan Eames, who owns and farms the Cotley Estate and who has been Chairman of the Point-to-Point for over 35 years, said: "We already have ten entries for the sponsored charity flat race and as a result we are hoping to raise well over £1,000 for Dorset and Somerset Air Ambulance. It's a mixed field of all shapes and sizes and includes two well known local pensioners."

Preview of runners in the Cotley Dorset & Somerset Air Ambulance Charity Flat Race

Entries in this race are restricted to Cotley Hunt subscribers riding horses that have hunted a minimum of five days and who have never won a race under any recognised racing authority.

All horses will carry a minimum weight of 12st 7lb and riders must wear hunting dress and racing helmets.

Each rider must have raised £100 minimum in sponsorship and there will be a special prize for the rider who has raised the highest amount.

What's on the Cotley race card?

IN addition to the Dorset and Somerset Air Ambulance charity race, the six main races on the 2013 Cotley Diamond Jubilee race card will be: 2 1/2 mile maiden for horses aged 4-7 years, Mixed open (ladies and gentlemen riders), Open Maiden over 3 miles for horses aged five years and over Countryside Alliance Club race for horses that have not won a race in the past two years, Cotley Hunt members race, Restricted race for horses that have never won an open, intermediate or restricted race under Turf Authority rules.

Preview of local Wessex trainers/horses

LOCAL Wessex trainers with horses that might be running at the Cotley Point-to-Point includes:

Richard Barber, from Beaminster, with Glass'n A Half, Barney's Mate, According to John and Mustangsallyally.

Gordon Herrod, from Axminster, with Feel The Beat, Dalmation and Mullins Mill.

Sue Popham, from Wellington, with Carlos Gargel, Only The Best, Getaway Driver and Swanbrook.

Jane Western, from Forde Abbey near Chard, with Last Minute Notice, Shootin The Breeze and Gypsy Jack.

Colin and Julie Bright, from Combe St Nicholas near Chard, with Some Slam, ridden by Michael Legg (who is a jockey to look out for).

Marilyn Burrough, from Yeovil, with Denise's Dip, On Oath, Standing Order and Jam Tomorrow. Charlotte Tizzard, from Trowbridge, with Coombe Hill, Little Cornham and Parstara.

Sally Alner, from Okeford Fitzpaine, with Master Medic and Jayne's Crusader.

Mary Tory, from Blandford, with Miss Midnight, Crank Hill, Battle Bridge and Cantabily.

Caroline Hobbs, from Sutton Veny, with Brahmagiri and Rokshi.

Robert and Nicky Atkinson, from Cattistock, with Russian Rain, Spring Lord and Regal Spider - sharing the rides will be Martin and Catherine Atkinson.

■ OVER TOGETHER: Action from last year's Cotley Point-to-Point.

Strong double

AXE CLIFF with Janet Dack
SENIORS

THE Seniors' March Medal attracted a field of 37 members with the early starters enjoying the best of the conditions.

In a close finish three players netted 71s and places were won on countback.

The winner was Tony Strong (9) with Roger Hill (18) claiming second place ahead of Gilbert Cox (19) in third. Bryan Dale and Gerry Turner both carded 2s.

Not only did Tony (Strong) win the Medal but on the preceding day also won the final of the Scratch Cup beating Chris Walker narrowly in the final by 2 and 1.

This was Tony's sixth successive Scratch Cup win - a magnificent record.

LADIES

AFTER a chilly start followed by a warm spring morning, the ladies of Axe Cliff competed for their first EG Medal of 2013.

The winner was Pauline Willis with Di Rogers in second place.

HONITON with

Andy Wagner

FORTY SIX members braved a bitterly cold Tuesday playing a relatively new format - teams of four - best gentleman and best lady Stableford score on each hole.

This is proving to be very popular as all members of the team feel involved.

The winning team were Sue & Paul Ritchie and Janet & David Hughes with 84pts on c/b.

In 2nd place, just losing out on c/b, were Olwen & Bill Eaton with Linda & John Northover. In 3rd place with 76pts were Jennifer & Richard Pyle with Di & Phil Wall.

Navy test for duo

AXE VALLEY RUNNERS

with Dave Mutter

ON Friday Afternoon Luke Reed and Richard Easton were invited to attend a Royal Navy Duathlon championship at Merryfield Airbase in Ilton Somerset.

The race consisted of a 5k run, nine mile bike and another 1.5 mile run. On a very windy day the 1 lap run, 3 lap bike and 1/2 lap of the airfield was very tough, with large parts into a strong headwind.

Luke and Richard were pleased with their efforts, both completing the first 5k run in around 18.55mins.

The other times were not recorded, but Richard went on to finish second overall with Luke around two minutes behind him in 5th place out of 50 competitors.

The pair would like to thank the Royal Navy for allowing them to take part in this race.

HONITON RC

FOUR Honiton runners braved the cold temperatures and biting winds to run Age Concern's 'Wrap up and Run' Exeter 10k on Sunday, the title of the race could not have been more apt.

Starting in Princesshay the race takes in a lap of Southernhay before descending down to the Quay.

From the Quay the route took runners along the River Exe straight into the freezing wind and out to the swing bridge.

From here it was time to turn back for home towards Exeter alongside the canal; at least the wind was now on their backs.

The finish line, by Haven Banks was a welcome sight and the chance to grab some sustenance and wrap up again.

First home for Honiton was the ever-improving Graham Reeves with another personal best time of 37 minutes 59 seconds 23rd place.

Nick Thorpe was next in 157th place in a time of 48.41, followed by his wife Sandra finishing 270th in 54.14. Both were pleased to finish third in their age categories.

Graham's partner, Sam Shute was next with a time of 57.30 in 358th place.

The race was won by Tom Merson of Bristol and West AC in a time of 31.15.

The race was completed by 550 runners.

SEATON CRIBBAGE

Sidmouth Rugby players represent Devon teams

WITH WILL MOWBRAY

SIDMOUTH Rugby Club has been well represented in Devon representative teams recently.

On Sunday 17th March Zac Bess and Alex Spurdle were in the starting line-up for Devon Under 20s in their crucial Championship match against Cornwall played at Brickfields. Also Alva Senderayi and Chris Courtier made appearances off the replacements bench.

Devon made a late comeback to win 32-24 and secure a place in the quarter finals. They play Kent at home on Sunday 7th April.

On Wednesday 20th March Josh Bess, Tom Whelan, Sam Meadham, James Perry and Jack Pyne played for the Devon senior side against the Navy at Devonport.

James Perry finished off a move involving four of the Sidmouth players to score one of Devon's tries. Tom Whelan kicked two conversions. The Navy went on to win 22-14.

HONITON "warmed up" for the Easter tournaments with a convincing win over Bridport on Sunday. Honiton loaned a front row to the opposition and this proved very entertaining at scrum time with both sides trying to gain supremacy.

The first-half yielded try's for Phillips and Nicholas, who looked impressive in his first start at centre, and with the defence holding firm Honiton led by 14 points at the break.

The second-half was more of the same with Sam Olive crossing the try line twice for well-worked scores before Bridport finally breached the Honiton defence for a score of their own.

The final score went to Dan Phillips who stormed over from thirty meters out brush-ing off would be tacklers as he went. Solid games from Bralsford and Finney but Man-of-the-Match went to hooker Elliot Moran, who excelled both for and against Honiton.

Bridport RFC U11 29

Honiton RFC U11 0

WITH seven players ill and six players injured during the match, it was a depleted and battered Honiton squad that doggedly took on the physically demanding Bridport team.

Never to miss an opportunity however, the lineup allowed several players new experience in unfamiliar positions and allowed less seasoned members valuable game play - where they did better than the score line suggests.

Matthew Webb worked the wing bravely; Samuel Bevan landed several key tackles; George Tomkins played back and centre with tenacity; Bradley Levy pushed through the defensive line and Taylor Little powered forward.

Jack Todd was named Man-of-the-Match for expert and fearless tackling.

WITH a delayed start to contend with while Dart waited for their goal keeper to arrive, Honiton took a little while to settle into their game last week.

The first goal finally came from Vanessa Trude after a good pass from Jean Herniman.

With the visitors' defence largely redundant Katrina Tucker added a second before half-time.

After the interval Dart committed more players more players forward but Honiton 'keeper Sue Stone still didn't get a touch of the ball!

Trude added two further goals following up some excellent crosses from Amy Phillips and Lucy Le Cocq.

Player-of-the-Match was Vanessa Trude.

Honiton now have one league game remaining and need to secure a win to keep the title from ISCA 5 who are equal with Honiton on points but have an eight point lower goal difference.

HI Q made it all the way through the season without dropping a point to finish top with a 10-point lead over the second-placed Sidmouth Toucans and with a +500 goal difference!

They rounded off their season with a 41-12 win over Otter Valley Dairy thanks to another good performance from Bev Parris.

It was Pippa Wyatt who was the OVD star turn.

Sidmouth Toucans finished their season with a very comfortable win over the Water Babies.

They controlled the game from beginning to end and ensured that they did not drop a point in 2013 - to finish 10 points clear of third placed Pixies.

Louise Hastie was the pick of the Toucans while, once again, it was Sam Clarke who gained Player-of-the-match award for the Babies.

The closest game of the night was between the Howden Hawks and Pixies.

With Meg Falkner in great form for Hawks, and Emma Griffin once more starring for Pixies, the game was set up to be a close encounter.

At quarter time Hawks led 8-5. By half way Pixies had closed the gap to 13-15, and to 20-21 going into the final period.

The final quarter went goal-for-goal with the Hawks hanging on to their slim advantage to win 30-29.

Seaton Town in Axminster Hospital Cup Final

ONCE again the weekend's fixtures were disrupted by the weather.

Just four games survived in the entire Devon & Exeter League, eight in the Perry Street League and two in the South West-Peninsula League division one (East).

The only one of the region's teams to take to the field were Beer Albion Reserves who beat Awliscombe United 2-1 at Furzebrake. The win sees the Fishermen move up a place to eighth in division five.

The following day Seaton Town beat Axminster Town 3-2 at Colyford Road to book a place in the Axminster Hospital cup Final. Goals from Josh French, Sam Jones and James Hill gave the Seasiders a 3-0 half-time lead but they had to withstand a late Tigers' fightback.

Axminster have a busy week ahead with a local-derby against winless Sidmouth Town on Friday (11am kick-off) followed by a trip to Galampton on Monday (3pm).

Back in the Devon & Exeter league there's no doubt about the pick of the games on Saturday with Beer Albion taking on Seaton Town in a local-derby at Furzebrake.

The Fishermen will be keen to exact some revenge for a 3-1 defeat in the reverse fixture at Colyford Road back in November.

This game is followed by a Bank Holiday Monday run-out for the pair; Seaton head off to Mordhard Bishop while Beer visit Topsham.

Meanwhile, Colyton continue their quest for a first division one win of the season. This could be the weekend for it too with the Tanners entertaining fellow strugglers Culm United.

With just one win in eight and only four games remaining Axminster Town Reserves must beat visiting Lords XI if they are to harbour any fading hopes of clinching a division four promotion spot.

In the same division Axmouth

United will look to bring an end to a six-game winless run when they travel to Woodbury in the first of four successive away fixtures.

At the foot of the table Seaton Town Reserves welcome Exmouth Town Reserves. A win could see the Seasiders clamber off the bottom rung.

Down in division five a win at Lapford could see Beer Albion Reserves hit the dizzy heights of fourth place.

Finally, Colyton Reserves welcome Newtown 4ths on bank holiday Monday at 3pm.

Over in the Perry Street league Millwey Rise Reserves take on Ilminster Town A in the John Fowler cup final under the floodlights at Bridport on Thursday (kick off 7pm).

On Saturday the Millwey Rise first team return to premier division action when they entertain Crewkerne Town while Farway United, still hunting their first league win of the season welcome Shepton Beauchamp (both games 2.30pm ko).

■ FRENCH RESISTANCE: Seaton Town's Josh French (green) skips past Axminster Town defender Andrew Gage in Sunday's Axminster Hospital Cup semi-final at Colyford Road. French was on the scoresheet as Seaton won 3-2.
